Award-winning international speaker and three-time award-winning author, Brandy M. Miller, has delighted audiences on stages from London to Las Vegas. She brings unique perspectives, authentic vulnerability, and diverse industry experience that allows her to speak to each audience in a language that they can understand.

A master teacher despite having only an Associates in Elementary Education, she has a gift for breaking complex topics into easily digestible bits that are relatable to everyday life. Her life experiences and talent for storytelling allows her to effortlessly weave together into a single compelling narrative a broad range of topics including business, marketing, salesmanship, science, math, art, writing, religion, relationship building, leadership, personal growth, education, race relations, politics, and psychology. Her talks help listeners experience a shift in perspective that creates a lasting impact on their lives.

Praise for Brandy:

“After I heard Brandy speak in person, I recruited her as faculty for my event. Attendees loved those presentations. Her kind, personable approach helps her connect with audiences and assist them with their journeys.” – Tonya Todd, Former Henderson Writers Group Education Chair

“The confidence displayed when Brandy Miller delivers content is because she dedicates the time and effort, as well as taps into every resource available, to be as informed as possible on her subject matter and talking points. The value she continues to bring to the annual Act Like an Author, Think Like a Business conference is the reason why she is one of our go-to expert presenters.” - Joylynn M. Ross, CEO of Path To Publishing
